Notes

We, the graduating class of nineteen hundred and fifty-one, having completed a very important year of our lives at Navarre High, are ready to enter into the final phase of our education. We turn our backs to the strife and chaos which have enveloped our contemporary society throughout the world... and look forward to our intellectual and social development.

We proudly dedicate this edition of the Entree Nous to Miss Helen Bremer, who has given much of her time to the publication of this annual, whose enthusiasm and practical help in so many extra curricular activities has been outstanding and whose inspiration in the classroom has helped us to attain our goal.

JEAN GREER
Salutatorian

VIRGINIA AGNES

Our opportunities to do good are our own talents.

DOROTHY DRAGE

Quiet and innocent, but so is dynamite, sometimes.

PAULINE BIXLER

Still water runs deep.

JAMES FOSTER

Speak low when you speak of love.

BETTY CHENEVEY

*I am happy and cheerful.
What more could I want?*

SALLY FRANK

*I agree with no man's opinions,
I have some of my own.*

RONALD COLUCY

Man is not made to question, but to adore.

FLORENCE GARVER

Hard to catch as a waiters eye.

ILA GAUT

Silence is golden, but gold does not appeal to me.

NORMA HAAGER

She that has patience may conquer anything.

DEAN GOODMAN

Which I have earned at the sweat of my brow.

BETTY HALL

Diligence is the mother of good fortune.

JEAN GREER

A finger in every pie.

VERLIE HAWKINS

What ever you do, do wisely, and think of the consequence.

JANE GRETZINGER

I'm willing to be convinced, but show me one who can do it.

HOWARD KEITH

My mind my compass, and my way.

VIRGINIA KLASERNER
Oh, 'tis love that makes us grateful.

GERMAINE NICKLES
Hard work is the surest road to success.

CHARLES LOGAN
Worry little, study less, that's my idea of happiness.

MILTON NOFSINGER
A man is ideal, even though he is absorbed in thought.

JUDY LONAS
A man says what he knows, but a woman says what will please.

JULIA PATTERSON
Every inch a queen.

JOE MOFFA
Restless as a windshield wiper.

NORMAN PINHARD
As good natured a soul as e'er trod on shoe of leather.

CLEO RUPERT

What wisdom can you find that is greater than kindness.

VERA SHANKLIN

She never intrudes, but is ready to help with substantial aid.

EDWARD SAGO

Men are often capable of greater things than they perform.

IVAN STEELE

Opinions cannot survive if one has no chance to fight for them.

PATRICIA SCHAFER

Anything worth doing is worth doing well.

DOROTHY THOMPSON

*It's nice to be natural;
when you're naturally nice.*

JOHN SEWELL

*Sometimes I sit and think.
Sometimes I just sit.*

SHIRLEY UNDERWOOD

Character is a diamond that scratches every other stone.

JOKES

BRIDY—How many subjects are you carrying?

RONNIE—Carrying one and dragging three.

BOBBY AGNES—I hardly know what to do with my week-end.

MISS SACCO—(Sourcasticly) I suggest you put a hat on it.

MR. WISARD—What do we mean by a free man?

MILTON NOFSINGER — One who isn't married.

DEAN—If you smoke you'll get a tobacco heart.

JOE—Then if I eat sweets, will I get a sweetheart?

JIM FOSTER—What would I have to give you for one little kiss?

FLORENCE GARVER—Ether.

VIRGINIA—This darn engagement ring George gave me.

JEAN—What's the matter with it?

VIRGINIA—It's too tight. I have the most awful time getting it off when other fellows come over.

MISS DRAWE—Were you copying John Paul's answers?

TREVOR—No. I was just looking to see if I had mine right.

MISS BREMER—What three foods are required to keep the body in good health?

SALLY FRANK — Breakfast, dinner, and supper.

JOHNNIE—I read in the paper that a man went for twenty days without eating.

RONNIE—Gee, he should have given his order to a different waiter.

FLORENCE—You shouldn't be handling money. It has germs on it.

EDDIE—Not my money, a germ would starve to death in 12 hours on the money I make.

SACCO—Young man are you the teacher of this class?

DEAN—No, Mam.

SACCO—Then quit speaking out of turn.

JANE—How long can a person live without brains?

JOE—I don't know. I am now nineteen.

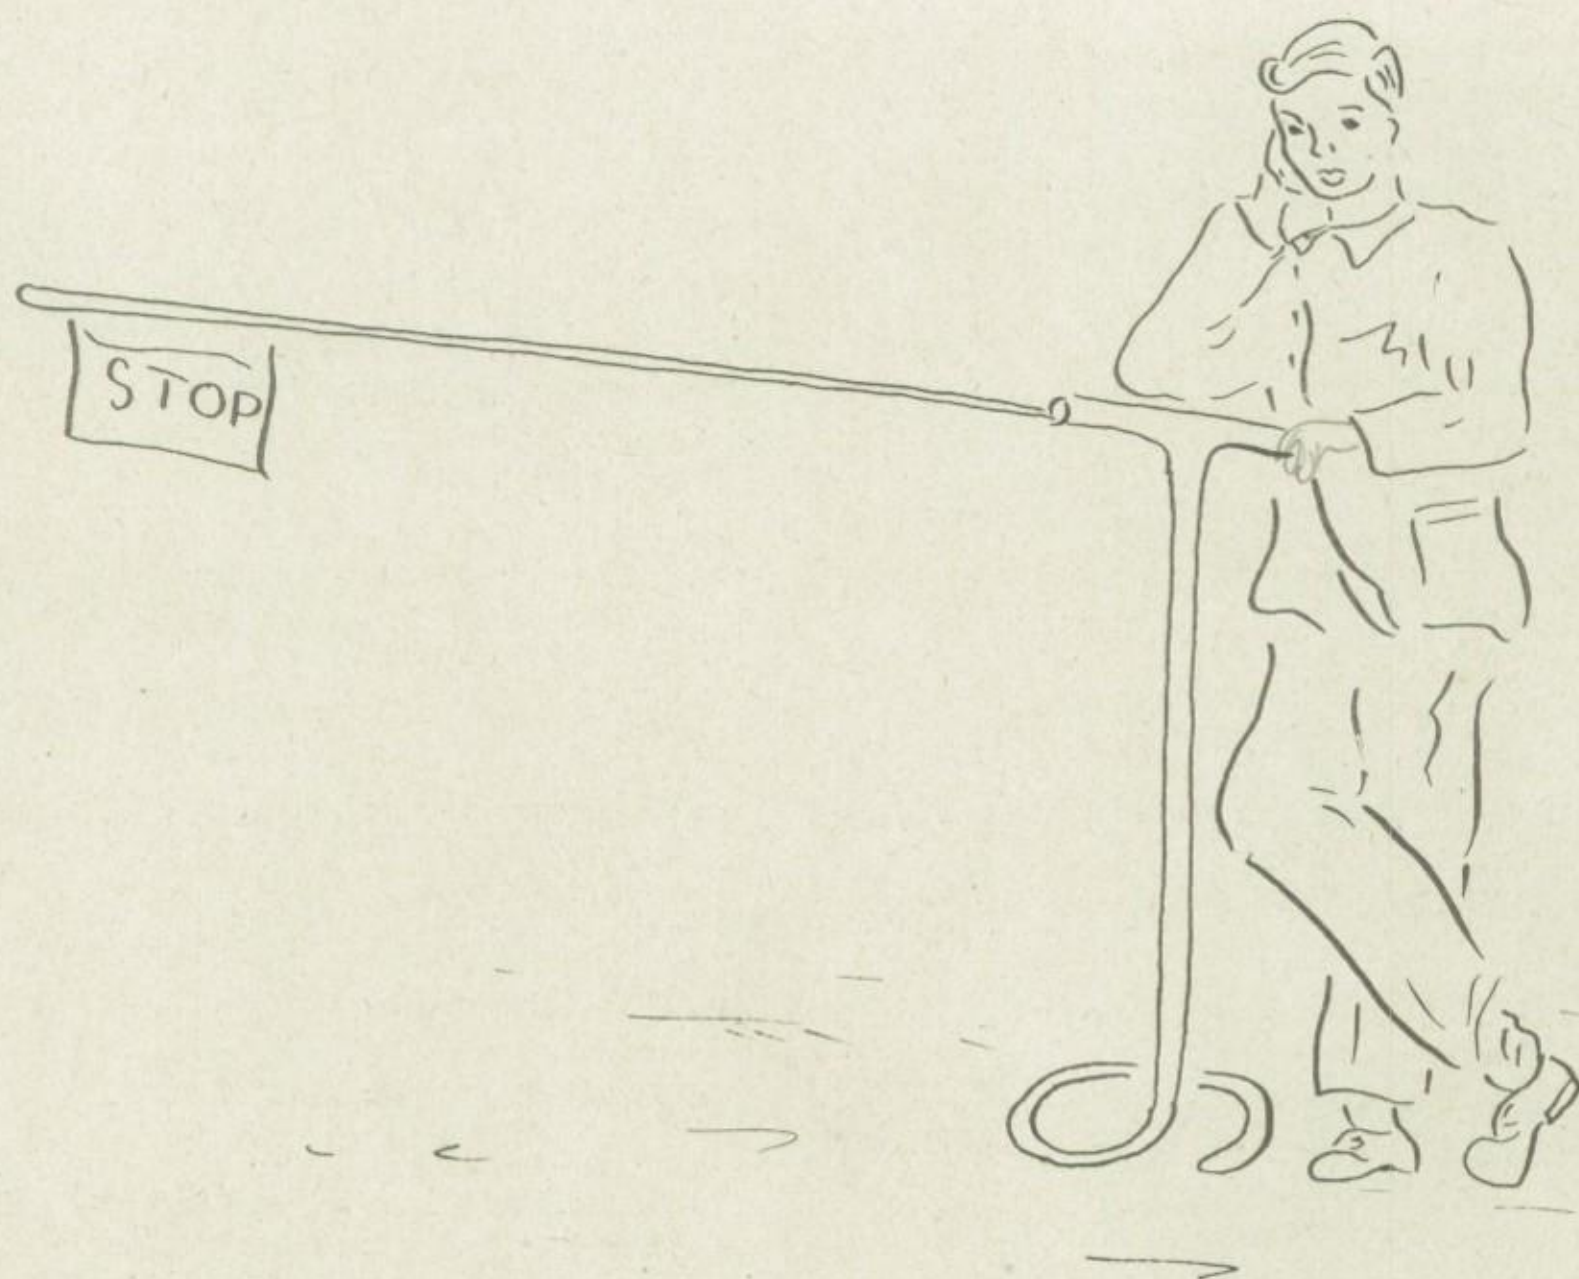

DOT D.—Tell me, do you really like dumb men?

JULIA—What other kind is there?

Danny had taken his date to the theatre. Before the first act was over, he tried to put his arm around her. In her attempt to resist him, she fell over the edge of the balcony into the orchestra.

"Hey!", Danny yelled after her, "Come on up out of those expensive seats!"

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

December 15, 1961
New York, New York

Hi Kids:

There were many of you whom we didn't get to see at our big homecoming celebration last November, so I thought I would take this opportunity to write to all of you and let you know what has happened to a lot of the old gang. We did manage to see some of you; but for those who didn't get to make it back to Navarre, we do hope you'll enjoy this letter.

I know you'd all be surprised at how much Navarre has changed in only ten years. This is due to a large uranium supply that was discovered here, and in turn a large atomic plant has been built to make use of this supply. It has made Navarre quite an industrial center, and it has grown from a small village to a good-sized city. Due to this increasing size of our small and quiet town it was discovered that we were in sore need of a new athletic field and stadium. And this is the spot where the first one of our classmates, Dean Goodman, comes into the picture. Dean, as you remember, was the Co-Captain of our football team and also very much interested in electrical engineering. When the Atomic Plant was built here, Dean applied for a job after he graduated "cum laude" from Ohio State; and since then he was worked himself up to the position of president of the plant. It seems that Dean got together with the officers of the plant; and after pulling some strings, they managed to raise enough money to build Navarre quite a large-sized stadium. It was for the dedication of this stadium that we all returned to our old Alma Mater. And what a dedication that was! I recognized the faces of prominent people from all over the country, besides many of my own classmates and friends.

Betty Hall, Julia Patterson, and I flew in from New York on one of the new jet rockets of Capital Air Lines. You can imagine our surprise when who should meet us at the door of the plane but Dorothy Thompson looking very chic in her new stewardess uniform. Of course, we were all excited to see Dorothy as stewardess; and she was just as elated at seeing us and wondering what we were doing there in New York. After we were seated and on our way, Dorothy had time to sit down and tell us what had happened to some of the former fellow-victims. She said that Eddie Sago was following in his father's footsteps and was now a pilot for the Trans-Atlantic Airlines. The last time Dorothy had talked to Eddie was in Chicago right before he was ready to take off for London. It seems that Eddie had lost track of most of the classmates, that is all except Howard Keith, who was stationed in London as a second-lieutenant in the United States Army.

After Dorothy had finished her news, we in turn told her of ourselves and our doings. After Betty had finished her graduate work at Depauw, she was offered a job as buyer for ladies' apparel at Sak's Fifth Avenue. It was through her that Julia and I went to Sak's as models.

Well, it wasn't long after our talk with Dorothy until we landed in Navarre on their newly-built airfield. We said good-bye to Dorothy and hurried over to the stadium as it was almost time for the football game to begin.

We entered the stadium and were amazed at its size and beauty. I suppose everybody is wondering about the old stadium. It is now being used for grade school and practice purposes. The new one, by the way, was designed and built by Gretzinger's Incorporated, a firm of artists and architects, whose president is our old friend Jane. Working for her as artist of the firm is Germaine Nickles.

As soon as we were seated, we took time to look at our programs and discovered that the present coach of our old Alma Mater was none other than Ronnie Colucy. We checked the line-up for the game between the High School All Stars and the Pro All Stars and were amazed at how many from our school had made both teams. Many were former graduates, but we were proud to see that our own Johnnie Sewell was captain of the Pro Team.

The half-time show made us almost feel homesick, for who should come strutting down the field, leading her Musical Majorettes, but Virginia Agnes.

Of course, after the game we had to go down and mill around the crowd to see whether we could find anyone that we knew. The first ones we saw were Joe Moffa and Chick Logan, driving out of the stadium in a big black Cadillac. We just managed to catch them before they left. They told us that they now owned two fashionable nite clubs and a Drive Inn Restaurant. It seems that their nite clubs were prospering wonderfully but that the Drive Inn was suffering from some stiff competition by a restaurant down the road. We later learned that this restaurant was owned and operated by Verlie Hawkins.

You can imagine our surprise when they told us that they had booked Ivan Steele and his now famous orchestra to play in one of their clubs for the Christmas holidays. One of their feature attractions was the very talented vocalist, Judy Lonas.

Joe and Chick offered to drive us down to the hotel, where we had previously made reservations, so we climbed in and off we went. Joe is still as good a driver as he ever was, and it was but a few seconds until we arrived at the hotel.

As we went up to the desk to register, who should be standing behind the desk but Norman Pinhard. We asked him whether he had seen any of the old gang, and he said, "Why yes, a good many of them had stayed right there in Navarre. In fact, Jim Foster was employed there in the hotel as head chef of the kitchen; Norma Haager had received her master's degree and was teaching English Literature at the high school; Cleo Rupert had taken Mrs. Peter-man's place as librarian; Jean Greer had also come back for the homecoming celebration and was registered there in the hotel." For those who haven't heard about Jean is, she has become quite a famous authoress, writing short stories for the Saturday Evening Post. Her private secretary is Patty Schaffer.

Later that evening while we were getting ready to go out, there was a knock on our door and in walked Sally Frank. She certainly has changed in only ten years! Sally now owns a reducing and beauty salon in Chicago, and working with her is Dorothy Drage. Sally said that they had flown in from Chicago early this morning and with them was Virginia Klaserner, the popular columnist for the Chicago Tribune. They had brought along one of last week's papers and showed us an article in it announcing the coming marriage of Pauline Bixler to Cornelius A. Vanderbilt III.

Later that evening while we were driving out to Verlie's Restaurant for dinner, we passed a large store with a sign out in front that read "Nofsinger's Farm Supply Co."

At the restaurant after our order was taken by Vera Shanklin, I happened to glance up at the television set and there staring me in the face was Florence Garver, seated in a car. It didn't take me long to discover that she was a driving instructor for Chevrolet. When Vera came back to our table, I asked her whether she knew what had become of Betty Chenevey. Vera said that Betty was now married to a Cleveland Browns football player and had a son named Roger Jr.

Well, kids, that includes everybody I guess. Oh! I almost forgot about Ila Gaut. We have been writing to each other regularly ever since she enrolled in nursing school at one of the hospitals in Cincinnati.

I certainly hope you've all enjoyed hearing about your old classmates. If any of you has a chance, please write and let me know what you're doing. Perhaps I'll see all those I missed this time at the next homecoming and as the fire fly said when he backed into the lawn mower, I'm delighted no-end. But this is the end.

So long kids!

SHIRLEY UNDERWOOD.

Hail Alma Mater
Hats off to you
Ever you'll find us
Loyal and true
Firm and undaunted Always well be
Hail to the school we love
Here's a toast to thee.
